Two local chefs team up with a Harvard physics professor to demonstrate some of their favorite cooking techniques and to explain the science that underlies the cooking.